Point System Will Govern Butter, Cheese

Red Stamps to Be Used In Program Set Up By OPA; Each Consumer Gets 16 Points Weekly for Purchase Of Newly Limited Foods.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Rationing of meat, canned meat, canned fish, butter, cheese, edible fats and oils will begin at midnight, March 29, on a basis that will give Americans nearly twice as much meat and fats but only half as much cheese as the British are getting.

Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown announced the new rationing program today after Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard had authorized it.

Sixteen points per consumer per week will be allowed for all of the new rationed foods and the consumer can decide upon which of the rationed items he prefers to spend most of his points. Point values will be announced during the week of March 22.

It is not possible to say exactly how much of each of the foods a consumer will get each week, but Wickard said that these average weekly rations will be approximately the next few months:

HERE'S LIST OF RATIONED FOODS

Meat	2 to 2 1/2 lbs.
Butter	4 1/2 oz.
Lard	4 oz.
Margarine	1 1/2 oz.
Cheese	Less than 2 oz.
Shortening	3 oz.

Official Report Shows Items Affected and Not Affected By New Program.

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON—Following is the official list of foods that will and will not be rationed under the new meat-cheese-fats program.

Rationed.

1. Meats, including all fresh, frozen, smoked, and cured beef, lamb, and pork; all meats and meat products in containers of tin or glass; all dried meats, variety meats, including: Tongues, brains, hearts, liver, tripe, sweetbreads, kidneys; bouillon cubes, beef extracts, and similar concentrates; all dry, semi-dry and fresh, smoked, and cooked sausage, including: Salami, pork sausage, baked loaves, wieners, scrapple, sausage, head cheese, and others; suet, cod, and other fats.

2. Fish—All fish, shellfish, and fish products in hermetically sealed containers.

3. Fats and oils—Butter, margarine, lard, shortening, cooking and salad oils.

4. Cheeses of all kinds except those expressly excluded. Rationed cheeses include the following: Cheddar (American), Swiss, brick, munster, limburger, dehydrated, grated, club, gouda, edam, smoked, Italian and Greek (all hard varieties). (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Britishers get the following approximate weekly rations in those items: Meat, 1 1/2 lbs.; butter, 2 oz.; margarine, 4 oz.; lard, 2 oz.; cheese, 4 oz., and no shortening.

Coincident with the announcement, OPA slashed the point value of dried and dehydrated prunes and raisins from 20 to 12 points per pound, cut the value of dried beans, peas and lentils (all meat substitutes) from eight to four points per pound, and exempted dried dates and figs from rationing altogether. The changes, effective Saturday, are the first to be made in the first point value table.

The new meat-fats-cheese rationing program will leave only a few items of food unrationed—such as fresh and frozen fish, poultry and game, breads, cereals and flour, fresh fruits and fresh vegetables.

As directed by Wickard, the new program which will use the red stamps in the new ration book—will include:

All fresh, frozen, cured, smoked and canned meats and meat products. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Japs Ignore Shipment of U. S. Aid to Reds Across Pacific.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Japan is permitting lend-lease shipments from the west coast intended for use against her Axis partner, Germany, to move in Russian ships unmolested across the Pacific and past her backdoor into Russia, it was disclosed today.

The revelation came in a map accompanying the eighth quarterly report to congress on lend-lease operations for the period ended March 11, 1943.

Officials confirmed that the shipments were moving across the Pacific with full knowledge of Japan. This, it was emphasized, is due to Japan's policy to do nothing which would infringe on her treaty of non-aggression with Russia.

House Approves Bill Shifting Methods of Highway Awards

The Ohio house of representa- tives, approving legislation to change the methods of handling bids on highway construction projects, today had passed the Hiner bill by a 92-31 vote, and approved an amendment of John L. Catlett, richland county representative, which prohibits the state highway director from accepting bids ex- ceeding the department's estimates by more than 10 per cent.

The original bill, introduced by Rep. Guy C. Hiner, Stark county, Republican, authorizes the with- holding of estimated costs of high- way projects until bids have been received by the highway director.

Hiner's proposal would have placed no limit on the size of acceptable bids on projects for which the estimated cost was kept secret. Under an existing statute, department heads are authorized to accept bids which are not more than five per cent above the estimates.

Bidding procedure on highway jobs has been a highly controver- sal matter with state recent legislatures and the proposal ap- proved by the house yesterday was described by opponents in previous sessions as "crooked and graft- ridden."

Rep. Hiner said it would elimi- nate fixing of bids close to the estimates of the department, re- gardless of the possibility of lower cost. Other opponents said secrecy of the department estimates would open bidding to smaller contrac- tors now unable to compete with project-swapping arrangements in effect among certain large con- tractors.

ATTACKS PLAN

FDR Says Ruml System Would Reduce Revenue.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Presi- dent Roosevelt said today that adoption of the Ruml pay-as-you-go tax plan would mean that the government would collect less revenue this year than it did last year.

The house ways and means committee has rejected the Ruml plan, but Republicans have decided to make a strong fight for it on the house floor.

Mr. Roosevelt said he thought it wise to point out that indi- vidual taxpayers, particularly those in the higher brackets, would save a great deal of money under the Ruml plan. This plan calls for wiping out tax liability on 1942 income in order to put all taxpayers on a current basis. Taxes still would have to be paid this year, but they would be taxes on 1943 income rather than on 1942.

Loudonville Soldier Decorated For Heroism Under Shell Fire

Braving German artillery fire in Tunisia to build a road to permit the safe withdrawal of 12 Allied vehicles, Cpl. Adam Hollinger, 30, former Mansfield West- inghouse employee, today had been awarded a Silver Star for his achievement.

Cpl. Hollinger, who has been overseas for 11 months, resided in Loudonville where he has a sis- ter, Miss Barbara Hollinger. His parents are in North Dakota.

The army citation said Cpl. Hollinger on his own initiative and under enemy shell fire ob- tained a detail of men to build a road which enabled his com- pany to withdraw 12 vehicles safely when the Germans at- tacked Kasserine Pass. The ve- hicles, which were not identified in the army releases, "would unquestionably have been lost" without Cpl. Hollinger's work, the citation said.

The former Mansfielder had been left behind in a North Afri- can assembly area when his com- pany moved ahead to engage the Nazi attackers, the army release said. While reconnoitering the area, he discovered an alternate route for moving Allied vehicles through the pass.

FIVE INJURED IN SIX-CAR CRASH

Union School Pupils Hurt on Way Home From Basketball Tourney at Bascom.

Five persons of the Mansfield area received minor injuries at 2 a. m. today when six cars figured in a series of collisions on State Route 61, about two miles north of Plymouth, according to state patrolmen of the Norwalk station.

At least two of the cars con- tained Union high school basket- ball players and fans returning from the district tournament at Bascom.

Those injured included: Carl Schlenker, Shelby R. D. 2, scalp cuts and a possible frac- tured skull; Virginia Schlenker, 17, his sister, scalp cuts; Mrs. Daisy Clawson, Shiloh, face lacerations; Arthur Pugh, Oshun road, Mansfield, and his niece, Marion Pugh, Ashun road, whose injuries were so slight they did not require doc- tor's care.

Letter From Son Tells Parents of Battle Wounds

Parents of Sgt. Richard Swanger, reported by the war de- partment to have been wounded in Pacific action, today had re- ceived a letter from him relating details of his injuries.

Pfc. Charles W. Diehl, son of Mrs. Cecile Diehl, Fredericktown, was another of the 22 Ohioans re- ported by the war department to have been wounded at about the same time.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swanger, Mansfield R. D. 5 near Lucas, learned from their son's letter that he was recovering from injuries received when he was shot in the arm. He said that his progress had been sat- isfactory and that he expected to be able to leave the hospital in another four or five weeks.

Parents of Lieut. Billie More- head, formerly of near Ashland, who died at Quimran, Tex., as a result of injuries received in a plane crash there March 7, ar- ranged today for funeral rites to be conducted from the Denbow- Bear Funeral Home in Ashland at 3 p. m. Saturday.

Success Seen for City-Wide Dim-Out Set for Next Week

Declaring the four sectional dim-outs successful to a high de- gree, civilian defense officials to- day were confident that next Thursday's city-wide dim-out will prove Mansfield prepared to com- ply with all black-out regulations when a 20-county test is held late this month.

Only five residential area vi- olations were reported and sev- eral commercial zone technical defects noted in Thursday night's test of the northeast sec- tion of the city. City police, auxiliaries and air wardens praised the apparent willing- ness and eagerness of merchants, industrialists and householders to comply with all protective re-

COLDER TONIGHT

Drop in Temperature Follows Traffic-Periling Sleet.

Slightly colder weather is fore- cast for the Mansfield area tonight as a sequel to the snow and sleet of Thursday evening which ham- pered traffic and made foot travel tedious. Ohio's official observer promises it will be "continued cool" this afternoon.

Highest temperature during the 24 hours ending at noon was 31, with only a slight drop to a low of 27, making an average of 29 as compared to an 18-year level of 33.6 degrees. The pre- cipitation of rain, snow and sleet amounted to .28 inch. At noon to- day, the mercury rested at 29 above zero.

Only one collision was reported during the night to the police traf- fic department although county and state road patrols were kept busy when driving surfaces became ice-coated.

quirements drafted to guard Mansfield against and during possible air raids.

Service trucks of the Ohio Pub- lic Service company, were in the business district last night with crews prepared to aid in blacking out stores on the east side of North Main street and the outlet streets. The same service was given Tuesday night to stores in- volved in dim-out tests.

"These four district tests have been highly gratifying," Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalfousch, de- fense coordinator, declared today, with Mayor W. J. Locke, OCD chairman, voicing the same ap- proval.

Applauding the service of police auxiliaries, air raid wardens, messengers and other civilian de- fense enrollees who participated, Police Captain Jesse J. Schwab, defense commander, declared "there is little doubt but what the entire Mansfield public is awakening to the severity of civilian defense regulations. I am confident the next week's test em- bracing the entire city will be just as successful as the zone demon- strations were."

During the 20-county black-out test, including all of Richland county, streets and traffic lights will be turned off. Trained ob- servers will tour every section of the city to compel compliance un- der drastic penalty provisions for violations of black-out rules.

Many of City's War Workers Ignore Income Tax Payments

Hundreds of Mansfield area war workers, purportedly earning more and spending more than at any time in their careers, are assum- ing a "come-and-get-me" attitude toward the income tax collector, according to Collector Frank F. Gentsch of the Cleveland regional office, and Mansfield attorneys who have been contacted by such applicants.

Although there has been a steady rush during extended of- fice hours all this week at the lo- cal bureau, second floor of the postoffice building, attorneys and others who have contacted war workers in plants and elsewhere to aid in filling out income tax forms report a rebellious under- current.

"There's a definite attitude on the part of many," one promi- nent attorney said today, "against payment of even the first quarterly installment of taxes on 1942 incomes."

"Here's one reply from a man who has been making big wages for more than a year:

"I haven't any money saved and I don't own any property; what's the government going to do about that?"

According to Collector Gentsch and Deputy Collector Al Wentz of the Mansfield office, here is what Uncle Sam is going to do, in the words of Gentsch:

"There is only one thing left to us in those cases. That is to gather up the evidence and take it to the United States attorney. Those (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON

"The same in person," my husband said gaily, as I undid the night chain and flung the door wide. Then, regardless of the others, he swept me off my feet in a "bear hug" and kissed me warmly, before he even looked past me.

"Glad to see me, Sweet?" he queried as always but I do not think he heard my "You know it," for his eyes had caught sight of Georges, and he stood rigid with amazement.

Then Dicky dashed across the room, saying "Lo, Katharine!" and "How are you, Dad?" as he went, and warmly clasped the fugitive young king's hand.

"Georges, by all that's holy!" cent stamp on it and ask for my bulletin on "Jealousy."

Solving Parent Problems.
Q. Don't you think the nervous jittery child can be helped most, as a rule, when parents work on themselves to be more calm and serene?

A. I do. For this reason, I have prepared a special bulletin, "The Nervous, Jittery Mother," to be had without cost, by writing me in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

he exclaimed. "When and where and how come, and all the rest of it? Spoon the lentils pronto! Why, I was about to order a band of black for my sleeve would have had it on in another week."

Spencer Interrupts.
"It's a long story," Georges said, with a wary eye on my father, and Dicky, always keen of perception, clapped him on the shoulder.

"I won't hurry you," he said, "but I want every word of the yarn as soon as possible. And I sure am glad to see you, fella, looking so wonderfully fit."

"You should have seen me a few hours ago," Georges said with a chuckle, then my father intervened.

"I'm sorry to interrupt the re- union," he said "but important things have to be done at once."

"Oh, sorry, sir!" Dicky said contritely.

"No harm done," my father said, smiling at him, "but Georges and Margaret are due now at a supper party the Philip Veritizes are giving in Georges' honor."

"A farewell festivity before I take him down to the hideaway for sanctuary."

"Georges is in grave peril," my father went on. "Only a few of us know that he is alive. If others now searching for him should find out the truth, his life would not be worth a farthing if he were not in sanctuary with me. He has been in disguise ever since he came to America. Tonight is the first time he has been free of a white beard and wig which concealed his identity."

Old Man of the Cafe.
"White beard and wig?" Dicky said quickly, looking at me, and I nodded.

"Yes," my father said "he was that old man at the cafe, of whom we have spoken. But my problem now is to get him to the Veritzen apartment unobserved. Milner suspects something is brewing and might be on the watch. But right now he is occupied with something else, so I am anxious to get Georges away before Milner can again come prowling around the corridors."

with a draught of your brewing." Dicky said admiringly. "But tell me how I can help?"

"Are you too tired to go to that party tonight?" my father countered.

"Wouldn't miss it for worlds," Dicky said breezily, although I knew he would have preferred a bed "D'ye think I'm going to leave my wife in the escort of anyone as devastating as that royal exile over there?" And he shot a laughing look at Georges.

"Then, if you'll stay here and get ready for the party," my father said, "while I take Margaret and Georges over, I'll be grateful. And while Margaret gets ready, I'll give you some necessary data about Milner."

Katharine and I in my bedroom worked feverishly in the next few minutes as I changed into a frock and shoes I could wear to the party.

"There! I think you'll do," Katharine said finally, "I'd say 'Have a good time,' but with all your worries I know the wish would be an empty one."

"I don't feel particularly festive," I admitted, then we went back to the living room finding the three men in earnest colloquy. My father gave me an approving glance.

"Very good time," he said "Now, Georges, if you're ready—But wait! Get your dark glasses, Richard, and get out one of your largest scarves."

"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T CROWD YOURSELF

Unduly strong bidding early in the auction can put you on a difficult spot later. Fearing that you have already told your partner enough about your strength, you dread making another bid which is important to picture your distribution to him. How much more comfortable you feel if you look ahead and notice a way to take it easy at the start, without fear the bidding will be dropped. Later on in the auction, you can sometimes picture your strength just as well and at the same time outline your distribution better.

South did not know what to do at the first table of that total point team match, when North's call of 4-Hearts arrived. "I have already shown my strength emphatically," he reminded, "by my this deal?"

very first bid, that forcing jump of 3-Clubs. Now I find that the hands sound like a terrible misfit. I'd better not bid any more, and maybe North can make the 4-Hearts." That's all he did make, as East took three trump tricks.

How much better South bid at the other table. Foreseeing a chance to force with a "reverse" bid of spades later, and the probable need of making several calls in clubs, which no good partner would pass. After the 2-Diamonds from North, South's 2-Spades, in a higher-ranking suit, was a powerful strength-shower and one-time force.

North's 3-Hearts then made it clear he had a five-four division of his two suits, whereupon South's 3-Spades gave a barrel of information. First, by its being rebid, South showed it was at least five cards long, yet the clubs were longer because they were bid first.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, March 12.
While the energies and mental grasp of affairs in hand are under high impetus for progress and outstanding productivity, with much gained by clever insight and quick moves as advantages present, yet there may develop some definite opposition or want of cooperation from superiors. However, others appealed to on the score of friendship, social contact or personal influence may be ready to come to the rescue. Social, artistic and romantic associations should flourish and bring joy.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year in which the forces and faculties are well stimulated to move swiftly into progressive and productive channels, when sudden opportunities present. Social, sentimental and domestic affairs give gratification.

THE CAPITAL-- By Raymond Clapper

WASHINGTON—Most of the comment here is at Ambassador Standley's remarks at Moscow were unfortunate. Acting Secretary of State said the ambassador spoke without Washington's prior knowledge.

An incident very much disturbs this government because of discussions that may take place long concerning the United States, Great Britain and Moscow.

As it is, the atmosphere is not too good so far as the United States and Russia are concerned. Ambassador Standley, the Soviet representative here, is withdrawing more and more into seclusion. He is seldom seen and participated little in the active life of Washington now although for a while after his arrival he and Madame Litvinoff mingled everywhere and everything was extremely cordial. I don't mean that there is any acute trouble. But when the president of the United States gets up in meeting and warns as Mr. Wallace did at are, O., that there will be another war if we cross Russia, there is something wrong with relations between us. You don't talk about things when feeling is all right.

Conversations are planned to try to clear up any cause of this drifting apart of the United States and the Soviet ally. Some of the most reliable persons in this government deeply hope the discussions will be successful.

It is unfortunate to inject into such a delicate situation the petty controversy over whether the Russians are showing enough appreciation of our aid. The fact that there is an underlying uneasiness concerning Russian high policy adds an explosive powder to the incident which is a trivial one.

COMPROMISE ON SALARY LIMIT RIDER SOUGHT

Administration Leaders Get Support After Impassioned Speech By 'Rookie.'

(By International News Service) WASHINGTON -- Administration leaders today gave consideration to a compromise agreement on repeal of President Roosevelt's $25,000 limitation on salaries as the legislation neared a final vote.

Pending in the lower branch is a bill to raise the national debt limit to $210,000,000,000 to which has been attached a rider nullifying the president's order and substituting a statutory formula in its stead.

The rider, sponsored by Rep. Disney (D., Okla.), has been under heavy fire by administration followers who contend it would permit salary raises up to $25,000 (net after taxes) but would leave the wage earner's paycheck frozen, subject only to an increase of 15 per cent under the "Little Steel" formula.

Leaders met behind closed doors this morning in an effort to reach an agreement on a substitute proposal offered late yesterday by Rep. Gearhart (R., Calif.), which he claimed would nullify the president's order, reinvest in him the authority to stabilize salaries, but would prevent any "leveling orders."

Supporters of the Disney proposal, which would permit raises up to $25,000 on post-Pearl Harbor salaries, but would freeze larger salaries at their pre-Pearl Harbor level, claimed they had sufficient votes to prevent the adoption of a substitute, but indications were that any reasonable proposal would receive their consideration.

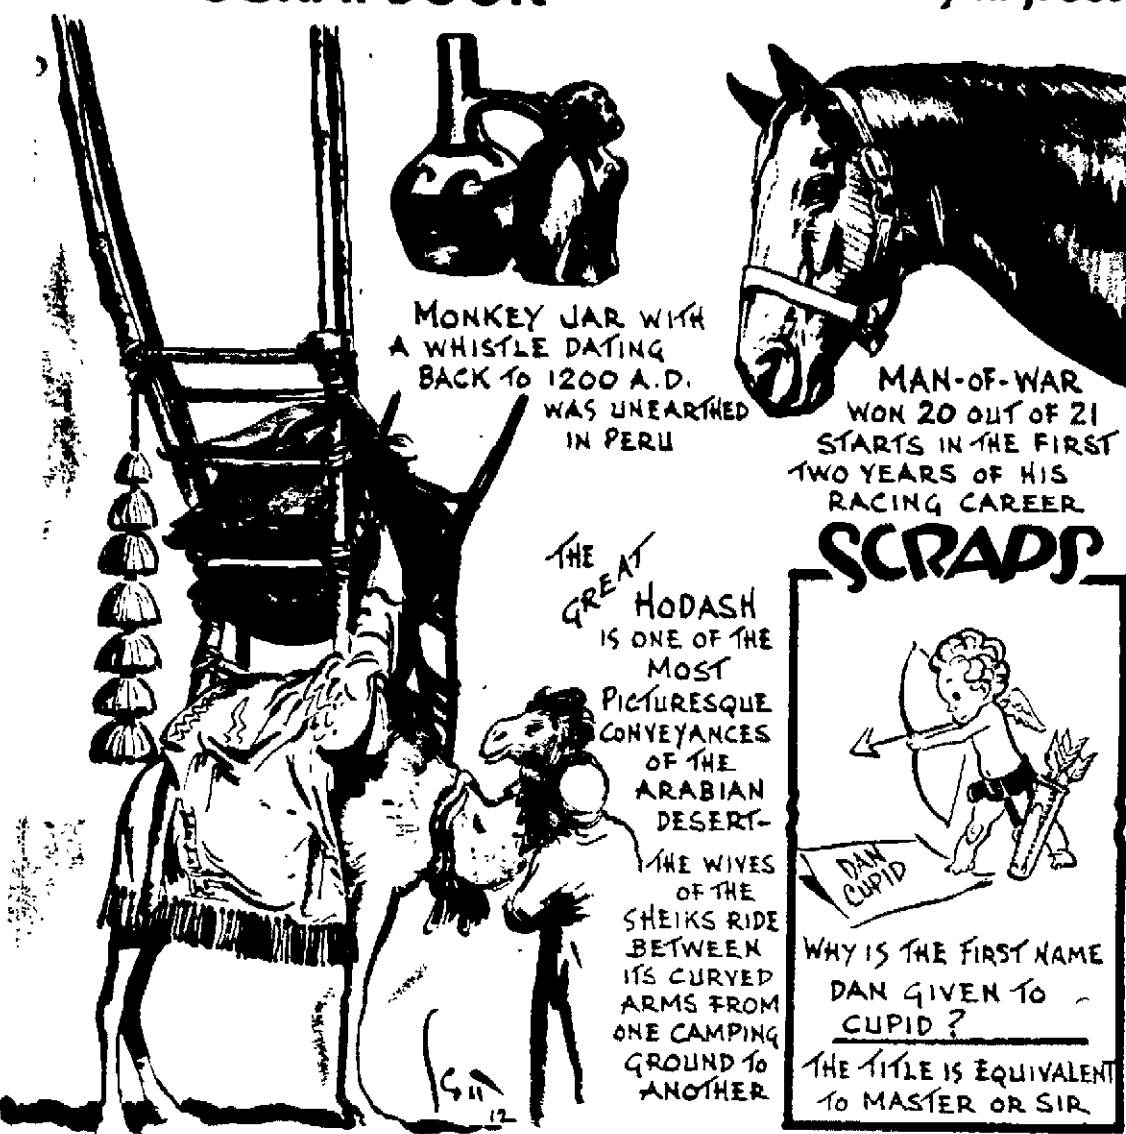

The debt limit bill, intact with the Disney rider, was headed toward final passage late yesterday when a "freshman" Republican member from Wisconsin, Rep. O'Konski, rose and made an impassioned plea against it which brought prolonged cheers from the house.

Shouting that no cry of unconstitutionality went up when ceilings were placed on wages and farm products, O'Konski sarcastically added that "when it came to salaries, glory be, they were protected by the constitution."

Sensing that the speech had turned the tide toward their position, administration leaders immediately went into a huddle, recessed the house and postponed a final vote until today in the hope that overnight they could win a sufficient number of additional votes to scuttle the Disney rider.

U.S. MANPOWER SITUATION NEAR CHAOS, CHARGE

Sen. Brewster Says Program 'Drifts Stern Foremost Toward Disaster.'

(By International News Service) WASHINGTON. Sen. Ralph O. Brewster (R., Maine), a member of the senate war investigating committee, today declared that the nation's manpower situation "is drifting stern foremost into chaos" and called for vigorous action to prevent the disaster.

Brewster's declaration followed conferences of the war investigating committee with Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, industrialists and others.

"Reports indicate pretty clearly that the program is a failure, that we are drifting stern foremost into chaos," Brewster said.

"There is lack of coordination between the various agencies, such as the department of agriculture, war manpower commission, selective service and others."

"We find that all agree that we must have 500,000 to 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 persons for various activities, and we find they all plan to take them from the same cupboard. When we get there we find the cupboard is bare."

"It is really fantastic -- an Alice in Wonderland and Gilbert and Sullivan rolled into one. There has been nothing shown to indicate that the McNutt program will accomplish the desired ends."

"The consequences of failure to solve the problem will be a falling down in production all along the line in both agriculture and industry. In a year or two Mr. McNutt might get some place with his inspirational pleas but the war may be over then."

Brewster said McNutt agreed that industries are not using their manpower table, under which an orderly plan of replacing men called in the draft is prepared. The entire program, he said, shows that every able bodied man between 18 and 35, capable of military service, will be drafted before the end of the year, causing great dislocation in industry.

Meantime, the senate moved forward toward passage of the Bankhead-Johnson bill for deferment of regularly employed farmers from the draft. The "farm bloc" won a decisive victory when the senate rejected the O'Mahoney substitute for the bill.

AIR ENOUGH-- By Westbrook Pegler

CAGO--It would be foolish to think that American big business has forgiven or ever forgave the harassment which it has been obliged to endure at the hands of the New Deal the winter of 1933. These are the men who called Tories and Copperheads, words meaner and more insulting than anything that the little shysters sent out from Washington to administer the labor relations act for the benefit of John L. Lewis and the Communists of the CIO and the racketeers of the AFL. Their very bigness in business was held to be proof of corruption and fascism and they were charged with disloyalty if they said they believed their country could and should keep out of the war.

But now, they are the men who are tuning the arsenal of democracy and putting to shame heap and tenal politics of Washington where and of lawyers and party press agents on unpaid payroll still carry on the class war and trying to renew their jobs for four years 1944.

They know, as anyone can see, that but for business, a distinctive American institution, United States would lose this war and that it is so big, the United States cannot. They are satisfied that this time, big business is accused of creating the war and shoving country into the fight for profits. The proof is found in the very accusation leveled against them a little more than a year ago that were loath to convert their plants to war tries because it seemed a profitless venture, at forced into the enemy, big business on this later, is producing with all that vast and ingenuity which the New Deal tried to cuff and suppress. These are not New Deal inventions, these crates containing airplane engines which come out of the plants by the boxcar, these tanks, jeeps and guns and these flying tips, but the contribution of those traitors, Tories and Copperheads to the destruction of a country which they love as much as Harry Hopkins does or Felix Frankfurter or Franklin D. Roosevelt, himself.

And if the president's sons are risking their so are the sons and brothers of the men of big business and many big businessmen, themselves, for, to them, this is not the New Deal's private war but a fight for the survival of their country. It is still their country, too.

Who are they, by name? Some of them you would know by name but many more you never heard of. They do not try to conceal their hatred of those who tried to raise a class war against them during the last 10 years merely because they were good men at enormous jobs who took their rewards in pretentious homes and winter vacations when things were rolling well at the plants and who finally came to them to use their bigness against the enemy.

The contrast between the men of big business and the political man of Washington is shocking to observe. In the old federal building in Chicago last night, long lines of tired men and women, four abreast, were inching wearily along after their work to file their income tax returns, many of them for the first time. It was a spectacle of bureaucratic waste of time, fumbling and inefficiency as most dealings of the people with the government are. A factory which did business so badly on pay night would have riots at the gates.

At the same time, in a hundred enormous plants in Chicago and countless big business factories in Detroit, Pittsburgh and Toledo and everywhere in the industrial east and middle west, big business was producing weapons, vehicles, engines, steel box cars, boats and submarines, smoothly and in great and steadily increasing quantity, hampered more by the New Deal's payroll parasites than by any other factor. The rate of production already has passed Hitler's and probably the combined production of Hitler, Mussolini and Japan and is increasing by the very hour. A plant standing on land which was an open field 18 months ago is turning out x big bombers a month now and is expected to make five times that many in a few months. Elsewhere, on another open field another great bomber factory is rising and will begin producing soon.

In another big business factory, airplane engines are assembled completely in four hours.

Big business and the fighters, who include a due proportion of the sons of big business, are winning the war but big business is not doing this for the New Deal and the lame ducks and lawyers and press agents of Washington. These men are doing this for the United States, which created and thrived on big business long before the New Deal and today would perish without it.

GINSBURG HAS LITTLE CHANCE

Congressmen Say OPA Attorney Unlikely to Get an Army Commission.

(By United Press) WASHINGTON -- Congressmen and at least one war department official agreed today that OPA General Counsel David Ginsburg's chances of getting a commission in the army are remote.

After revealing that Ginsburg had applied for a commission, Col. Albert J. Browning, chief of the purchases division of the army's services of supply, told reporters that Ginsburg probably was "headed for khaki breeches." He emphasized that he was not referring to officer's "pinkies."

Browning told the house military affairs subcommittee that Ginsburg's application at a hearing yesterday and prompted Rep. John W. Flanagan, D., W. Va., to denounce Ginsburg on the house floor as a "draft dodger."

Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown said in a statement that he was "the best informed man in the OPA." Brown revealed that Ginsburg had submitted his resignation because he feared differences of opinion might arise under the new OPA administration and also "felt a desire to go into the army."

The military affairs subcommittee, which is investigating draft deferments among government employees, was informed by Browning yesterday that Ginsburg applied last Monday for a commission and was being considered for appointment to the services of supply branch of the army in London. But Browning told the subcommittee that the army's experience in getting commissions for men under 35 is "zero." Ginsburg is 31.

Draft board papers subpoenaed by the military subcommittee revealed that former OPA Chief Leon Henderson had sought and obtained Ginsburg's deferment during OPA's early days on the basis that Ginsburg was irreplaceable.

'15 MILLION IN UNIFORM'--RICK

Famed Flier Predicts Huge U. S. Armed Force Before Allies Win War.

(By Associated Press) INDIANAPOLIS -- Because of the various theaters of war, the United States will have to put 15 million men into uniform before victory is achieved by the United Nations, says Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

He said the United States was the only country among the Allies "not having 'plus' fighting manpower."

"It is going to take 15 million American men in uniform to win this war," Rickenbacker said last night at a meeting sponsored by the National Foundation for Education in American Citizenship.

SPRINGFIELD (AP) -- Paul J. Maher, president of the Springfield Trades and Labor Assembly, said a protest would be lodged today with the Ohio general assembly over its invitation for Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker to address the lawmakers.

Maher said the labor body adopted a resolution protesting the assembly's invitation on the ground that the airman's "anti-labor prejudices prevent him from being a true spokesman for America's fighting men."

Rickenbacker, World War I ace and hero of a Pacific ocean rescue, has been protesting what he termed labor racketeering and strikes in war industries.

PLAY 'HUNCH'

Police Arrest Suspect in Theft of 'Stalled' Auto.

Acting on a "hunch" that the youth they suspected had, in a previous similar episode, hidden out in Ashland, Traffic Patrolmen Roeliff B. Hout and Richard Hecht yesterday arrested the "samartian" who allegedly drove off last week with the auto of a Mansfield woman after volunteering to help with the stalled engine.

When arraigned today on the charge of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, James Davis, 269 Cline avenue, was granted a continuance by Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler. A second youth is being questioned in this investigation.

Aided by Ashland police, Hout and Hecht arrested Davis Wednesday night at the home of two Ashland girls who had visited at the Davis home here.

According to police, Davis is the "samartian" who succeeded in starting the stalled engine in the auto of Mrs. Herbert M. Robinson, 108 Blanch street, at a North Main street parking space last week. The volunteer then advised Mrs. Robinson he lost the car keys in the slush and snow. Later he and a companion were seen driving away in the car.

Davis, police say, recently was paroled from Ohio State reformatory.

Defiance Tops List In Joust

Martins Ferry Shares Pace Setting Honors.

By HAROLD LISK

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Under the leadership of Coach Webster of Wood county, undefeated Defiance, victors in 20 consecutive games, and Martins Ferry, unbeaten in 21 contests, today led the way into finals of District Class A tournaments, with 53 teams still in the running for the state championship which will be determined at Columbus, March 27.

Webster of Wood county, undefeated in 20 classes, led the way into District Class B finals, with 63 teams still in the running for the Ohio Class B title.

Martins Ferry gained its 21st win by downing its traditional rival, Steubenville, 50 to 41, last night. The riders will meet East Liverpool, 39 to 36 winners over Tiltonville, in the finals of the Steubenville meet Saturday.

Only a miracle can keep Defiance out of the Class A regional tournament at Bowling Green March 20. Defiance scored its 20th successive victory by edging Wauseon, 55 to 49, and Montpelier earned the right to meet Defiance in the finals by upsetting Van Wert, 33 to 28. Montpelier has won only 10 of its 19 contests.

In the smaller-school ranks, Webster got its 20th straight win by easily defeating Gibsonburg, 48 to 28, in a semi-final match at Fremont. The Wood county champions will meet Sandusky St. Marys, 55-37 winners over Huron, in the finals to determine the meet's representative in the Bowling Green regionals.

At Youngstown, seeded Canton McKinley scored its 18th win in 20 games by downing Canton Timken, 51 to 48. McKinley's Bulldogs will meet seed Warren, 68-45 winners over Scienceville, to determine one of the tournament's two regional representatives.

Toledo Central, defeated in the state finals by Xenia Central last year, advanced to the Toledo district finals by downing Whitmer, 31 to 26, and will meet Woodward, 31 to 25 winners over Rossford, at Dayton Fairview and Middletown will meet to determine one of the two Dayton district regional representatives.

The Detroit Red Wings held the National Hockey League championship for the first time in six years today after coming from behind to defeat Toronto, 2-1, Thursday night.

Montreal's Canadiens kept alive their hopes of gaining a playoff berth when they scored twice in the final three minutes to deadlock the Chicago Black Hawks, 4-4, at the latter's rink.

GREAT GIRL GOLFER going great guns. Alliteration and all, we're trying to say that Mildred (Babe) Dickinson Zaharias, the stellar girl athlete, has returned to the golf links after an absence of many years and is clicking again. She won the annual Mid-winter tourney in Los Angeles this week. Babe shot a one-over-par 79 in the qualifier. Babe is the wife of Wrestler George Zaharias.

Sport Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK — (AP) — The secret finally comes out: When the National Semi-Pro Baseball congress conducted its nationwide registration of players last spring, the oldest registrant was none other than Connie Mack. . . Pro football coaches are breathing easier since they've learned that the new corner at the Don Hutson residence is another girl, not a junior pass-natcher. . . The Boston Olympics hockey team has a rule that players must give up their seats to service men in uniform, which accounts for their making several Boston-New York trips.

OBSERVATION POST
The act that Leonard Bingham, a young man who served as a basketball coach at Lykens, Pa., high school turned out two championship teams, makes us wonder if the feminine invasion of the coaching profession will mean the end of one of the coaches' oldest prerogatives. . . Just think of what those pre-game tears would do to the girls' makeup.

Mack Answers Draft Call

Indian Second Baseman Gets Physical Exam.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Ray Mack, Cleveland Indian second baseman since 1939, today received word from his draft board to report for a physical examination. William C. Schmidt, chairman of Board 29 disclosed.

Should the 26-year-old former star case fulfillback pass his physical he would be reclassified from 3-A to 1-A, and would face induction in May or June.

Besides Mack, only Ken Keltner, Manager Lou Roudsauer, Russ Peters, and Eddie Turchin are listed as infielders, and only the last two can play second base.

Vice President Roger Peckinpaugh now is faced with finding second base replacements, as well as filling the gap at first base when Les Fleming chose to stay in his war job rather than return to baseball.

Mack, who with Shortstop Lou Boudreau constituted one of the snappiest keystone combinations in the major leagues, was married in Oct. 1940, and has one child.

STOCK MARKET EXTENDS RALLY BY FRACTIONS

Income Tax Brings on Retail Slowdown.

NEW YORK—The stock market today extended Thursday's rally by fractions in early transactions.

At a fairly active opening improvement was registered for U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, North American, Dome Mines and American Can.

Holders of merchandising issues noted the Dun & Bradstreet survey disclosing a slow-down in the country's retail activities this week due partly to unfavorable weather and the approach of the income tax deadline. For the nation as a whole, however, dollar volume exceeded the like 1942 week by 5 to 12 per cent.

NAZIS ABANDON VYAZMA, CLOSE IN ON KHARKOV

Germans Claim They Blow Up Town Before Retreat; War In South Critical.

and villages and killed more than 600 Germans. Smolensk is 80 miles southwest of Bely.

In the struggle for Kharkov, approximately 375,000 fresh German troops were reported storming against the steel center from two sides, and the Russians declared the enemy was "trying at all costs to break through to the city."

In its mid-day communiqué, Soviet headquarters announced: "South of Kharkov, our troops repelled fierce enemy attacks. West of Kharkov, strong enemy tank and infantry forces stormed our positions. At the cost of heavy losses, the enemy succeeded in pressing back our units."

On the Tunisian front, bitter fighting raged deep behind the southern end of the Mareth line as Field Marshal Erwin Rommel attacked out against flanking British Eighth army forces near Ksar Rhilane, and first official account said the Germans had suffered another heavy blow.

Ksar Rhilane lies 45 miles west of Fumt Tahabine, at the southern end of the 60-mile-long Mareth defense works.

"Heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy and many vehicles were left burning," said a communiqué from Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters.

The communiqué said the battle was continuing, with Rommel apparently making a desperate attempt to break the ring which Gen Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth army is forming around the Axis in conjunction with American French and British first army troops in the north.

A bulletin from Allied headquarters said Col. Gen. Jürgen von Arnim's Axis forces, renewing the offensive against British First army lines west of Sedjenane, attacked three times yesterday without success.

Sedjenane is 35 miles west of the Axis stronghold of Bizerte.

"There was patrol activity only in central Tunisia," a communiqué said.

Italian headquarters said Allied armored thrusts had been "repulsed by the artillery and air force" in an unspecified sector of the Tunisia battle theater.

The thrust to Ksar Rhilane suggested Montgomery perhaps was starting to sweep around the Mareth line rather than attempt a frontal attack against the powerful defense works, tactics exploited by the Germans against the Maginot line in France.

Reds Renew Second Front 'Hitting'

LONDON — (AP) — A Moscow English language broadcast, recorded by the Soviet radio monitor, said today Adolf Hitler's transfer of troops from western Europe to the Russian front indicated he was "pretty confident that the present situation there (in the west) will continue for some time."

The broadcast, by the radio commentator known as "Viktorov," contained overtones of the Russian attitude toward the need for a second front.

The German manpower crisis is severe, Viktorov said, "but Hitler will manage to scrape some more divisions out of his satellites if he is given time. x x x Hitler really is very well that time won't be the important thing is for everybody else to realize it."

LONDON — (AP) — The official German news agency DNB, and the Nazi-operated Paris radio got their lines twisted today on just what they are supposed to reveal concerning the fate of the Nazi army at Vyazma.

The Russian city, sole remaining German stronghold on the Moscow front, has been evacuated, according to DNB.

A half-hour later the Paris radio announcer claimed that the Nazi troops still hold Vyazma.

Report 25,000 French United In Revolt

LONDON — (AP) — Reliable sources reported today that a French guerrilla army estimated at 25,000 men organized under a military high command now is engaged in a coordinated rebellion against German occupation forces and their labor mobilization campaign.

Underground reports from Europe said hundreds, perhaps thousands, of French men and women had been arrested by the Gestapo and Vichy police struggling to stamp out the revolt, raising the possibility that mass executions of hostages might be imminent.

Fighting French headquarters said Frenchmen were flocking by the hundreds each day to join the guerrilla army. Long-hidden stores of arms, grenades and ammunition charges were being dug up for use against the Germans.

Reports from the French fronties said the Nazis had started a wholesale search for hidden arms. Meanwhile they continued their roundup of workers with dozens of trainloads being dispatched to Germany.

Blast 14 Attacking Jap Planes at Oro

BULLETIN — WASHINGTON — (AP) — American airmen in two withering attacks on Kiska, Japanese base in the Aleutians, blasted anti-aircraft installations and damaged buildings in the camp area, the navy announced today.

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA — Destruction of 14 out of a force of 40 Jap bombers and 12 other planes which attacked Allied-held Oro Bay on the Papua coast of New Guinea was announced officially today.

Twelve of the enemy fighter craft and two of his bombers were shot down when Allied airmen went into the air to intercept and disperse the attacking formation.

The action was announced in a communiqué from Gen Douglas MacArthur which said Allied losses in the aerial dogfight were light.

It was the second largest enemy raid against an Allied position in New Guinea since last August.

Stuttgart Pounded By RAF Night Raid

BULLETIN — LONDON — (AP) — The Royal Air Force swept over the English channel again today in a relentless offensive against enemy objectives on the European continent. Indications were that a fairly large sweep is in progress.

LONDON — (AP) — The RAF's eighth night visit of a heavy bomber force last night pounded the important industrial and communications center of Stuttgart in southwest Germany in a strong attack from which 11 members did not return. It was announced officially today.

A strong formation of Allied planes was heard flying high across the English channel toward France today and vapor trails looped about the sky between Calais and Boulogne, as if dogfights were in progress.

The air ministry, in a terse communiqué, described the Stuttgart raid as a heavy one, which usually means participation by several hundred bombers.

The loss of 11 bombers on the mission indicated a sizeable force took part in the assault. A large part of Stuttgart's population of a half-million is employed in precision engineering which is vital to Germany's war effort in the air and on the ground, an official statement said.

Only a few hours after the British bombers attacked, German raiders in a sunrise attack soared over London's suburbs, dropping bombs in at least one area and machinegunning trains and other targets.

Two waves of raiders—12 planes in each—flew up the Thames estuary and five planes sped out of the sun over a London suburb, firing cannon and machine-guns and spilling their bombs.

Five of the German planes were reported shot down. The German losses in a light foray thus were nearly half as large as the British loss of 11 planes in a full-scale attack on Stuttgart.

Sister 'Too Noisy,' Kills Her

Because she was "too noisy," John Wesley May, 17, of Flint, Mich., shot and killed his six-year-old sister, Ermogene Lita. He is pictured holding the rifle he used in the slaying before he pleaded guilty to first-degree murder. The youth told police he tied and gagged the girl, shot her once, shot her twice more because "she was still kicking," then went to the movies.

who willfully refuse to file returns or who willfully fail to pay their taxes are liable to a fine up to $10,000 or imprisonment of from one to 10 years, or both. Besides, we can place a lien against their property and their wages and collect.

"We are not anxious to put people in jail, but if they will not obey the law there is no alternative."

The income tax deadline is Monday, March 15.

The latest figures in the Cleveland office including the Mansfield district, show 277,365 returns received up to Wednesday, a decrease of 119,106 from the comparable 1942 period.

"That decrease is even worse than it appears on the surface," Genesch said. He explained 970,000 filed last year, while lowered exemptions and the increase in workers' numbers was expected to boost the number who should file this year to 1,500,000.

In Cincinnati, internal revenue attaches estimated collections of approximately $27,000,000 to date Thursday's total was $1,258,444.27 of which $140,000 was in cash. Collections last year from Jan. 1 through March 15 were $45,133,325.57.

The Toledo income tax office reported it had received 129,000 returns through Thursday, as compared with 117,000 for the corresponding period a year ago. The Toledo branch also said today's mail was heavier by several bags than that for March 12, 1942, indicating the increase would continue.

Morgenthau also announced that the treasury will offer on April 20, and outside the second war loan drive, one-year seven-eighths per cent certificates of indebtedness in exchange for $1,300,000,000 of similar certificates due this date. This transaction will involve no new money but will postpone payment of this amount of public debt for a year.

Fair opposed the measure which was passed by the Republican house although G. O. P. members said he voted for the same plan a few years ago.

The Holmes countian said he had changed his mind since then and he now considered the measure "crooked."

Meanwhile, senate leaders yesterday kept their "harmony" record unsullied by returning to committee a bill of Sen. I. E. Baker which would create a 300-man auxiliary state highway patrol for anti-sabotage duty. Baker got the bill's return to committee when it appeared certain of defeat.

State leaders boasted that not a single bill has been defeated in the upper house this session. Privately they conceded that bills with doubtful chance of passage have been kept off the calendar or sent back to committee to pre-

Start Drive Against Meat Rationing

CINCINNATI — (AP) — A drive to prevent meat rationing got under way here today.

The Greater Cincinnati Retail Meat Dealers association decided last night to ask customers and friends to telegraph James F. Byrnes, director of economic stabilization, expressing opposition to the coupon rationing. The office of price administration in Washington announced while the dealers were meeting that the program would start around April 1.

Nicholas Bauer, association counsel, asserted "we're in this predicament because they've put men in the OPA who don't know a thing about the meat business."

Lange predicted 90 per cent of Cincinnati's dealers would have no beef to sell next week because packers were not killing their full quotas.

Congress To Make Its Own Post-War Plan Survey.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Congress prepared today to set up its own study of America's post-war economy.

In it is the fate of the national resources planning board's voluminous recommendations for cradle-to-the-grave social security and government participation in private enterprise.

The study will be made, at least in part, by a special senate committee proposed by Sen. Walter F. George, D. Ga., chairman of the senate finance committee.

Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, said the planning board's report and all corresponding matters will be referred to the special committee.

Planning Board Reports To Congress

NOT SINCE God, as related in the third chapter, 19th verse, of Genesis, imposed upon Adam and his descendants the stern penalty, "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread," have those descendants evolved such a grandiose scheme to lighten the penalty as is seen in the recommendations of the National Resources Planning Board, which President Roosevelt has just submitted to congress—with his blessing.

Possibly never before has such an appealing picture of a heaven on earth—a Garden of Eden with all modern conveniences—been presented by wishful thinkers as that which is flashed brightly in the 500,000-word document which congress is asked to ponder, approve and finance.

The National Resources Planning Board, of which Frederic Adrian Delano, uncle of President Roosevelt, is chairman, worked for three years in putting this together—which seems none too long a time in which to formulate plans for the sudden accomplishment of a human transition toward which slow-paced Nature, augmented by the potent influences of civilization and religion, has been unable to bring about in centuries of unremitting effort.

All the high hopes of those whose eyes of faith have envisioned a world eventually freed of such frailties as envy, greed, hate, selfishness, intolerance, criminality, and the like, are promised fulfillment by operation of the "plans" proposed in the thesis, with no account being taken of the human elements which stand in the way of more rapid progress in national and world advancement.

Scanning conditions as they now exist, as related to governmental handling of domestic affairs, and reviewing the record of the New Deal since its inception in 1933, little is seen to encourage belief that this newest emanation from that source is more than another of the socialistically inspired visions which have frequently served to evidence the impracticability of an administration that started on the theory that prosperity could be assured by wasteful expenditures of public money—and that has since shown no inclination to depart from that fallacy.

Congress does well in politely accepting this voluminous document, cutting off the cost of further functioning of the National Resources Planning Board, and putting the matter aside for the more immediately important tasks associated with winning the war.

Distribution Is Also Essential

COLONEL PAUL LOGAN of the U. S. army quartermaster corps, has said that: "Every person working in the food industry is just as important to this war effort as any person working in ammunition or airplane factories. . . . Their services could not be dispensed with if we are to hope to win this war."

In spite of such opinions from men in authority, the distribution industry has been hampered by red tape, confusing directives, loss of vital employees to "essential" war industries, and other handicaps. Notwithstanding official comment, the distribution industry is far from being included in an integrated civilian supply program. Latest proof of this was the announcement by selective service officials that war workers were advised to get an "essential" job. Consternation spread through every retail establishment. Vital employees began looking for "essential" jobs. They were not told that distribution of necessities is as essential as building ships.

The retail distribution industry is doing everything within its power to ease the plight of consumers suffering from the blight of shortages, and to efficiently carry out controls and restrictions imposed by government.

The task of the merchants can be made infinitely easier and the welfare of all will be immeasurably improved if the essential character of retail distribution is recognized without further delay.

Layman Speaker Here Sunday

SUNDAY will be an occasion of more than ordinary interest among Mansfield churchmen, due to the coming of Robert E. Speer, nationally prominent layman speaker, who will give two addresses under sponsorship of the Mansfield Laymen's Missionary Movement.

Both meetings are to be held at the First Lutheran church—a vesper service at 4 p. m., with "Why Do Men Blunder" as the subject of Dr. Speer's talk, and an evening service at 7:30, with "How Big is Our World" as the subject. Because of his long association with the Presbyterian board of missions, Dr. Speer is also to be guest speaker at the Sunday morning service at the First Presbyterian church.

While much has been known by Mansfield churchmen about Dr. Speer's work as a layman speaker on religious subjects, this will mark his first appearance in this city and the sponsoring group is much gratified in securing him for this early-Lenten season.

Fantastic Illusions of Japanese

NAZIS are not alone in believing they are supermen, destined to govern the world. The Japanese think so too. Their belief has recently been summarized in a new book, a kind of equivalent of Hitler's "Mein Kampf", put forth by Chikao Fujisawa, professor of political science in the Imperial University of Kyushu.

Man originated in Japan, says Fujisawa. The first man was a descendant of the Sun-Goddess, and was Japanese. The standard man today is Japanese; all other races are inferior variations. Eventually the world must be reduced to one family, under Japanese headship.

These fantastic notions are important because the Japanese seem to take them seriously, and to act on them. What a lot of explaining it will take when this so-called superior race is thoroughly defeated by the "outer barbarians" who live in the United States!

As food rationing gains momentum it may develop that there was real basis for the much pooh-poohed idea that "two can live as cheaply as one."

One trouble with Orson Welles as a soldier may be to make him understand that he isn't in full charge of the production.

The coöperage trade reports a shortage of wooden barrels—which creates another problem for taxpayers.

TRADING CAN OPENERS FOR GARDEN TOOLS

Japs Feel Lack of Machine Tools

By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—If you add to the statement by Gen. Claire Chennault—that Japanese air power is waning—the item told in these dispatches more than four months ago—to the effect that the Japanese have difficulty in changing the design of their airplanes because they lack machine tools—it adds up to something tremendously important.

Gen. Chennault could easily be deceived about the strength of the Japanese air force. For example the Japs could be saving their planes and their pilots for some particular offensive, and hence be temporarily weak on all their fronts in air power.

But when we add in the information about machine tools, and consider the very heavy losses of Jap planes in the Southwest Pacific, in China, in Burma, and in the Aleutians, there is at least the possibility, if not the probability, that Gen. Chennault's highly optimistic statement is sound.

THE SITUATION on machine tools as previously told in these dispatches is about as follows: The Japanese never have developed any particular ability in the making of machine tools. They bought all of their supply prior to this war from two countries, Germany and the United States. Germany sold Japan considerably more than we did.

Obviously Pearl Harbor cut off even that trickle that had gotten through from this country before Dec. 7, 1941. It had been reduced to a trickle some time before that. So Japan has been dependent for nearly a year and a half, we might guess, on Germany for all NEW machine tools.

Now it is not only possible but probable that the Japs, knowing what they were going to do and perhaps even figuring on the difficulty of Germany supplying them, stocked up as well as they could on machine tools before they entered the war.

It is probable that they had enough machine tools to last them for a very long time. For instance they could have had, and probably did have, four or five or any number they figured might be necessary of every individual machine tool they would need, so that when tools wore out they could be replaced.

Which brings back the old Kipling line: "They copied as fast as they could but they couldn't copy our mind, so we left them sweating and straining, a year and a half behind."

THE POINT here is that the Japs, assuming their reserve supply of machine tools, could go on making planes OF THE SAME MODEL as long as they had adequate materials.

But when it came to CHANGING a model, they would need new machine tools, and there was no possible way of their knowing what sort of changes would be necessary. To do that it would have been necessary to have forecast the results of the inventive genius of the entire world from 1941 on.

So, when obvious defects in the Zero and other Jap planes were revealed in battle, the Japs began to have difficulties in correcting those faults. Not being able to think, or at least not being able to do a good job in correcting them, is one of the reasons why the Japs have continued their high ratio of losses compared to those inflicted on the enemy.

But most observers here still think it will take at least a year to polish off Japan after Germany collapses.

What they were going to do and perhaps even figuring on the difficulty of Germany supplying them, stocked up as well as they could on machine tools before they entered the war.

It is probable that they had enough machine tools to last them for a very long time. For instance they could have had, and probably did have, four or five or any number they figured might be necessary of every individual machine tool they would need, so that when tools wore out they could be replaced.

Which brings back the old Kipling line: "They copied as fast as they could but they couldn't copy our mind, so we left them sweating and straining, a year and a half behind."

THE POINT here is that the Japs, assuming their reserve supply of machine tools, could go on making planes OF THE SAME MODEL as long as they had adequate materials.

But when it came to CHANGING a model, they would need new machine tools, and there was no possible way of their knowing what sort of changes would be necessary. To do that it would have been necessary to have forecast the results of the inventive genius of the entire world from 1941 on.

So, when obvious defects in the Zero and other Jap planes were revealed in battle, the Japs began to have difficulties in correcting those faults. Not being able to think, or at least not being able to do a good job in correcting them, is one of the reasons why the Japs have continued their high ratio of losses compared to those inflicted on the enemy.

But most observers here still think it will take at least a year to polish off Japan after Germany collapses.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Army of 7,500,000 Men Planned Years Ago By War Department

WASHINGTON—In September, 1939, just a week after war broke in Europe, the Washington Merry-Go-Round went to the war department to check on a "rumor" that the army had plans for drafting American youth for military service. We were referred to a red-headed major, who said, with an apologetic air:

"Yes, we have a plan, but we don't call it draft; we call it 'selective service.' It's nothing new. It's just a carry-over from the last war. Besides," he added, "if I have my way, we will never use this glass bowl and these pellets. I am a Hoosier and an isolationist, and I believe we should stay out of other people's troubles."

The red-headed major is now a major general, who presides over the destinies of millions of American men. The name is Lewis B. Hershey.

"But if we do have to get into it," Hershey added, leaving the thought incomplete.

Hershey mentioned the figure of 7,500,000 men as the strength of the U. S. army. This is the figure the president is insisting on today. The record now reveals that it has been a basic figure in war department planning for years.

Hershey said at that time, more than three years ago, that the picked up the receiver. A soft feminine voice at the other end of the line asked to speak to his wife.

"Who is this?" mumbled the clerk sleepily.

"This is Madame Chiang Kai-shek," was the reply.

"Oh, yeah! Well, I am Napoleon."

The clerk hung up. Later, at breakfast, he told his wife about the call, with some angry imprecations about practical jokers who get people out of bed at seven in the morning.

"But, dear," replied his wife, "I'll bet that was Madame Chiang Kai-shek. I went to Wellesley with her and I understand she's been calling up all her old classmates who live in Washington."

Note: Madame Chiang Kai-shek phoned about 15 of her former Wellesley classmates who live around Washington.

Diplomatic Chaff.

PARAMOUNT has received 5,000 letters as the result of this column's revelation that Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom The Bell Tolls" was being suppressed because of objections from Dictator Franco, the state department and people represented as "friends of the Vatican." Paramount keeps promising that the picture will be shown. However, inside fact is that its premiere, planned for New York in April, has been postponed. All of its magazine advertisements scheduled for May and June have been cancelled. . . . It was not the British who stopped Swedish vessels from their monthly voyages to South America, but the Nazis. They found that Sweden was getting more and more independent, thumbing their nose instead of giving the Nazi salute. . . . The U. S. government is beaming a radio program toward Martinique to tell its French population of Admiral Robert's refusal to co-operate with the United States and the reasons why we have cut off food from that island. . . . State department is boiling mad over the speech of U. S. Ambassador Carlton J. H. Hayes in Madrid revealing how much assistance we were giving Spain. Officials considered issuing a statement spanking him, but didn't.

Manpower Problem.

MONTANA sugar beet farmers, desperately hard up for labor, doubtless will be interested in the way one of their two senators, the Hon. Burton K. Wheeler, solved a manpower problem with the help of the United States navy.

Senator Wheeler is chairman of the Interstate Commerce committee, which sponsored a bill to merge the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies.

Early last year, an investigator for this committee, Edward Cooper, obtained a commission as a lieutenant in the navy's communications section. Now Senator Wheeler has got Lieut. Cooper assigned back to the Interstate Commerce committee.

Wheeler went right to the top to swing this little deal. He urged Navy Secretary Knox to permit Cooper to return to his old job until the telegraph merger bill passed congress. Wheeler explained that Cooper's services were sorely needed because he had given a great deal of time and study to the legislation.

Knox referred the request to navy personnel officials, with the result that Lieut. Cooper was given an indefinite leave to assist Wheeler as long as needed. He has been occupying an office close to Wheeler's in the senate office building since Feb. 1.

Just what his duties are remains a mystery. All studies relative to the merger bill were completed last year, and the bill was sent to the president for his signature February 25th, yet Lieut. Cooper, at last report, was still occupying an office on Capitol Hill.

Merry-Go-Round.

THE state department has been looking for an AI man to be U. S. ambassador for the strategically important African states stretching from Dakar to the Union of South Africa. Pat Hurley could have the job but doesn't want to be marooned in the tropics. . . . Jim Farley has made it clear to friends that if the war is still on, he will not oppose the president for a fourth term. But if the war is won he will oppose him to the bitter end.

Fliers Who Have Been "Through the Mill" Have Experiences That Would Fill Book.

A FORWARD TUNISIAN AIRDROME—You may remember my writing last summer about a bunch of American fighter pilots training in Ireland. They were the first fliers to arrive in Ireland, and their comment on the Irish weather was, "When you can see the hills, it's going to rain; when you can't see the hills, it's raining."

Well, I've just smacked into this same bunch here in Africa. They've sure been through the mill in the past six months. Already one squadron is veteran enough that some are due to go home soon, and they've all been moved back to take a rest.

For five weeks they lived and fought in a special kind of hell on the Tunisian front. Their field was bombed on an average of every two hours. The pilots' notes to the air at a moment's notice several times a day. They averaged between four and five hours in the air daily, and practically all of it was fighting time.

They started with 21 planes and 22 pilots. They lost six planes and three pilots. But on their scoreboard they are credited with 11 victories, two probables, and 14 damaged.

THEY had enough thriller-diller experiences to fill a book. Lieut. Ed Boughton of New York had a typical one. His plane was shot all to pieces, and the glass canopy that shuts him into the seat was damaged so he couldn't get it open. Consequently he couldn't jump, and simply had to land the plane or die.

Miraculously, he got it back to the field and crash-landed it. The plane was nothing but junk. Boughton wasn't hurt. When they finally got him out, they discovered that the jammed canopy had probably saved his life. For his parachute was shot half away, and if he'd jumped he would have fallen like a plummet.

The squadron commander is Major James S. Coward, of Erwin, Tenn. Lieut. Col. Graham West of Portland, Ore., is the executive officer of the whole group, but spent the entire time at the front with this one squadron. He is still with them, seeing that they rest as hard as they fought.

West's nickname is "Windy." He and Jim Coward are typical of the Air Forces. They are both young, both extremely pleasant, both around, both high in rank for their age. When I saw "Windy" West last July in Ireland he was a captain. A few moments out to Answer: A large stone in the gallbladder is probably the safest and most comfortable kind to have. It certainly does not necessarily have to be corrected by surgery nor does it often affect other organs.

Answer: The whole answer to this question depends upon the interpretation of the word "cure." Cases of recurrence are not due to lack of immunity, but to an old lesion that was not completely healed, breaking open again.

T. C.: Will you please explain the difference between cataracts that have been a long time coming and those that develop quickly? Are both operable? Does one have to go blind before an operation can be performed?

Answer: There is no essential difference between slow-growing and rapidly-forming cataracts. Both of them are operable. The patient does not have to go blind as you say, although in some cases an oculist gives the cataract a little time to mature before operating.

HELP EUROPE, PLEA OF DR. LEIBERMAN

Homes Shattered, Cities Ruined, European Peoples Look Toward America for Assistance, Federation Speaker Says.

DECLARING that "we must be ready to share our blessings with other peoples," Dr. George B. Leiberman, rabbi and lecturer, called America the salvation of the world in an address here yesterday before the Mansfield Federation of Women meeting at the Ohio theater.

Their homes shattered, their cities ruined and their governments disorganized, peoples of the vast continent of Europe look toward America with hope for food and comfort, he said.

"When this war is over, a diseased, starved, down-trodden Europe will begin thinking of reconstruction. The way of human nature is to build anew on the ruins of old. A great deal of the reconstruction will depend upon American kindness and generosity. If America closes its eyes and hardens its heart to Europe's despair, America does not deserve its place in the world," the rabbi stated.

Dr. Leiberman said there was a time when "America almost lost her Americans." This was 13 or 15 years ago when "everything European was exalted and those who could, traveled in Europe, followed European customs and talked European politics."

With the coming of Hitler and the subjugation of some of the peoples of Europe with whom America was identified, there was a change in the minds and hearts of the American people, Dr. Leiberman stated.

It was then that the American discovered that they had something more precious than any previous political experiment—democracy.

In concluding his lecture, Dr. Leiberman spoke of the song "God Bless America" which had become a hymn and anthem of the American people, pointing out that "at last we have awakened to a realization that religion is the one indestructible force in this world of destruction."

"God will bless America if America will bless God," he said. "God will bless America if the American people will bless themselves in the spirit of mutual aid, of tolerance and neighborliness. God will bless America when America will be worthy of his blessing."

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. P. W. Board president of the Mansfield Federation of Women.
